It affords no pleasure to assure you that after using Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Fills for more than twenty years in my family, that I regard them as being superior to any I have ever used or have seen used. I have not had them constantly and had to try others, and I have tried a good variety, but I have never had any to act so promptly, profinably, and nicely as McLane's. I have used them myself wife, and children, with the most grattly in my wife, and children, with the most grattly in my wife and the say and happy effect, I would recommend them to one and to all. These pills do the work—do it promptly, do it well, and leave no ill effects behind. As a bile remover, as a liver corrector, as a forerunner preparing the system for quinine, there is no pill or medicine equal to Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Fills. I expect to use them as long as I live, if they continue as good as they have been in the past.

The Browns have now a clear lead of twelve games over Pittsburgh and keeps on winning while her mascot rival drops occasional games. Louisville still holds third place, but by a narrow majority and it will not be surprising if the Western teams return home with Brooklyn installed agaid in second place. The other clubs have not changed their order.

Right here sleep overcame the weary boy, and he loosed his hold upon the lines, and Snip was free to go as he pleased.

The pony knew the way, and though it was pitch dark he trotted carefully over the rough way, genily stepping over the ruts, not spilling one small lump of coal. Some time in the night they reached the rude stable of stone, roofed with poles and thatched dried prairie grass.

Snip walked in for he knew that he was at home. A gentle rain had begun to fall, but Arthur slept on, unmindful of the wetting he was getting.

The anxious mother went often to the front door to watch for Arthur, and all night kept the supper warm for her boy. But the wind and patter of the rain kept her from hearing the noise of the wheels.

In the far West November brought the first cold winds that blew around the little one-roomed box house, the home of the Myers family, who had taken up a claim and owned little else save the unimproved land.

The father was dead and the iburden of "keeping up the farm fell upon 12 year-old Arthur. He was stout and brave of herrt, and kind neighbors helped him, yet he got along slowly. Many comforts were lacking in that little home.

"Our coal is gone," sighed the mother, as the tried to fry potatoes and a very scant supply of bacon one cold morning over a not very bright fire.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. above, was off to the coal banks twile miles away, where coal was cheap and abundant.

It was noon when he arrived at the coal banks and atter eating the lunch his mother had prepared for him, he commenced his work.

All about him were stalwart men who were busy digging out the black diamonds and the Cherokee Indian owner of the banks was constantly directing newcomers to a place for difference of the banks was constantly directing newcomers to a place to dig.
